ADELAIDE INSTITUTE

PO Box 3300 Adelaide 5067 Australia

Online ISSN 1440-9828

Mob: 61+401692057

Email: info@adelaideinstitute.org
Web: http://www.adelaideinstitute.org

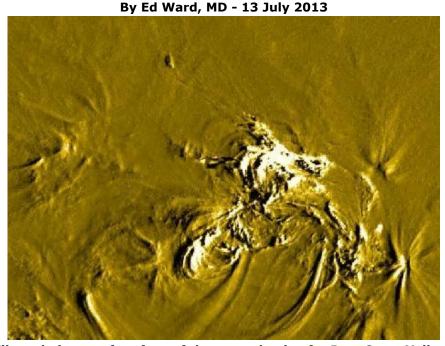

August 2013 No 711

If a man is offered a fact which goes against his instincts, he will scrutinize it closely, and unless the evidence is overwhelming, he will refuse to believe it. If, on the other hand, he is offered something which affords a reason for acting in accordance to his instincts, he will accept it even on the slightest evidence. The origin of myths is explained in this way. - Bertrand Russell - 1872-1970

Bearing in mind the Teslar controversy, here is something completely different to things Holocaust!

Everything We Know About a Gaseous Hydrogen Sun Is Bogus Science Recent Triple Verified Satellite Data Reveals Everything We've Been Taught About a Gaseous Hydrogen Sun Is False

Filtered picture of surface of the sun selective for Iron Ore - Yellow.

As noted in the Surface of the Sun, 2008 (2003 Data) http://www.thesurfaceofthesun.com/

"The sun's photosphere is often mistakenly referred to as the surface of the sun. In reality however, the sun's photosphere is only a "liquid-like" plasma layer made of neon that covers the actual surface of the sun. That visible layer we see with our eyes is composed of penumbral filaments that are several hundred kilometers deep. This visible neon plasma layer that we call the photosphere, and a thicker, more dense atmospheric layer composed of silicon plasma, entirely covers the actual rocky, calcium ferrite surface layer of the sun. The visible photosphere covers the actual surface of the sun, much as the earth's oceans cover most of the surface of the earth. In this case the sun's photosphere is very bright and we cannot see the darker, more rigid surface features below the photosphere without the aid of satellite technology.

The composition and mechanical inner workings of the sun beneath the visible photosphere have remained an enigma for thousands of years. There are a whole host of unexplained phenomena related to the sun's activities that still baffle gas model theorists to this day because they fail to recognize the existence of an iron alloy transitional layer that rests beneath the visible photosphere. Fortunately a host of new satellites and the field of heliosiesmology are starting to shed new light on this mysterious "stratification subsurface" layer of the sun that is located about 4800km beneath the visible photosphere. In addition, recent studies of solar wind suggest that solar wind also originates on the same transition layer under the photosphere as do the electrically charged coronal loops. NASA's SOHO satellite and the Trace satellite program have both imaged this transition layer of the sun that sits beneath the photosphere. These 21st century satellites and technologies now enable us to peer behind the outer plasma layers of the chromosphere and photosphere and allow us to study the rocky, calcium ferrite transitional layer with incredible precision.

Galileo was the founding father of the gas model theory of the sun. He observed the sun through a relatively primitive telescope and noticed that sunspots did not rotate uniformly across the surface of the photosphere. He also observed that this visible "surface" rotated at different speeds near the equator than it did near the poles.

From his study of sunspots and their uneven rotation pattern, Galileo surmised that he must be looking at some type of gas atmosphere. He was correct in that assessment, although today we know that the photosphere is a form of hot ionized plasma. Unfortunately however, Galileo also "assumed" that no other solid layers existed, or could exist, beneath the visible layer of the photosphere. That was a critical mistake. It was a bit like looking at a world covered in water, and having no ability to see beneath the water, and then simply assuming that the whole world is made of water.

Galileo did not have multimillion dollar "eyes" and Doppler imaging systems to look beneath the chaotic surface of the photosphere. Only in the past 10 years, a virtual blink of an eye in scientific terms, have we had the technology to put Galileo's assumption to the test with modern satellite observations. The Yohkoh, SOHO, Trace, RHESSI, Hinode, Stereo and Geos satellite programs give us new sets of eyes, new ways to view the sun, and new ways to peer beneath the layers of the sun that Galileo first observed. The Hubble, Chandra and Spitzer space telescopes give us eyes to peer into other solar systems and other galaxies and enable us to look back at the original structures of our universe and see our universe in all new spectrums of energy. What they reveal to us about the structure of our universe is truly breathtaking.

While the gas model has enjoyed popular support over the past 50 years, that has not always been the case. In fact astronomers of 100 years ago believed in a predominantly iron sun, most notably Dr. Kristian Birkeland. Dr. Birkeland studied the Northern Lights and became interested in the electrical interaction between the sun and the earth. His early lab research with an electrified iron sphere suspended in a vacuum ("terella") led to images that are remarkably similar to modern satellite x-ray images of the sun. The bottom photo of this page shows the electrical activity that Birkeland documented in his lab next to an image from the Yohkoh satellite. The electrical arcs from the surface of both spheres is what emits the x-rays and gamma rays seen in Yohkoh and RHESSI images of the sun.

The running difference imaging technique used by both NASA and Lockheed Martin have revealed to us for the first time that the sun is not simply a ball of hydrogen gas; it has a hard and rigid ferrite surface below the visible photosphere that can be seen in all of the images on this page! Each of the images was produced by NASA or Lockheed Martin so you can verify these images for yourself.

Just as Birkeland surmised, it turns out that the sun has a highly defined surface that rotates (uniformly) every 27.3 days. Dr. Birkeland was at least 100 years ahead of his time.

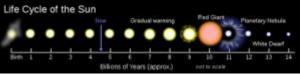

An important corroboration of Dr. Birkeland's solar theories and laboratory experiments came forty years later in the work of Dr. Charles Bruce. Dr. Bruce documented а number of solar atmospheric phenomenon that were directly related to electrical discharges from the solar surface. Bruce confirmed what Birkeland had predicted nearly fifty years earlier, showing that the electrical activity was directly responsible for the high energy discharges from the solar surface. The electrical discharge nature of the coronal loops has since been confirmed by the University of Maryland."

Take the article link for the continued brief article for embedded links and more pictures.

http://www.thesurfaceofthesun.com/

However, the 'meat' and source of the information is presented in much more depth in this PDF. The Surface (Ferrite Layer) of the Sun

http://www.etwebsite.com/TheSurfaceOfTheSun.pdf

Ed Ward, MD -

http://edwardmd.wordpress.com/ ;https://www.facebo ok.com/EdWardMD3 ;http://groups.yahoo.com/group/E dWard-MD/messages

US Government 'Carrots': The Eternal Path to Servitude http://edwardmd.wordpress.com/2013/06/10/us-government-carrots-the-eternal-path-to-servitude/America's Only Real Choice: Constitution or Tyranny?
http://edwardmd.wordpress.com/2013/06/09/americas-only-real-choice-constitution-or-tyranny-2/

The US: "A Distorted, Bastardized, Illegitimate Government."

http://edwardmd.wordpress.com/2013/06/09/the-us-a-distorted-bastardized-illegitimate-government/

Two FBI Agents Murdered Over Danny's $235,000? The Closing of 'Loose Lips Sinks Ships'?

http://edwardmd.wordpress.com/2013/05/26/two-fbiagents-murdered-over-dannys-235000-the-closing-of-loose-lips-sinks-ships/

Update: Witnesses Saw People 'Vaporized' on 9 11 http://edwardmd.wordpress.com/2013/05/21/update-witnesses-saw-people-vaporized-on-9-11/

Dimona Does Damascus: Israeli Nukes in Damascus, Syria

http://edwardmd.wordpress.com/2013/05/06/dimonadoes-damascus-israeli-nukes-in-damascus-syria/

More US Drill Death in Waco Explosion – Drill Stops for Reality, Again

http://edwardmd.wordpress.com/2013/04/28/more-us-drill-death-in-waco-drill-stops-for-reality-again/

Boston Marathon: The Finish Line For US Treason. Drill Death. Everything's In Place For Police State. by Ed Ward, MD

http://edwardmd.wordpress.com/2013/04/16/boston-marathon-the-finish-line-for-us-treason-drill-death-everything-is-in-place-for-police-state-by-ed-ward-md/Pictures: US Boston Weapon – Both 'Explosions' – The Secret of the Pure Fusion Weapon – Li7 – Lithium 7 http://edwardmd.wordpress.com/2013/04/19/photograph-of-boston-fireball-2nd-explosion/

The US Wouldn't Nuke Its Own People – Wake Up and Glow

http://edwardmd.wordpress.com/2013/04/13/the-us-wouldnt-nuke-its-own-people-wake-up-and-glow/Proven 9-11 Nukes

http://edwardmd.wordpress.com/2010/09/06/proven-9-11-nukes-us-government-involvement/

9 11 Fake Video Stars: The J Star Clones – Why Covert Operation's Cointel Must Have 'Fake' Video and 'No Planes

'http://edwardmd.wordpress.com/2013/05/05/9-11-fake-video-stars-the-j-star-clones-why-covert-operations-cointel-must-have-fake-video-and-no-planes/

Bill Moyers, The Secret Government: The Constitution in Crisis – 1987 – Part 1 of 9

http://edwardmd.wordpress.com/2013/06/04/bill-moyers-the-secret-government-the-constitution-incrisis-1987-part-1-of-9/

FIXED VOTE = NO VOTE - I WILL NOT ASSIST 'THIN AIR VOTE COUNTING'.

http://edwardmd.wordpress.com/2009/10/23/fixed-vote-no-vote-i-will-not-assist-thin-air-vote-counting/ Israel's WWDs: German Made Nuclear Armed Dolphins http://edwardmd.wordpress.com/2013/07/28/israels-wwds-german-made-nuclear-armed-dolphins/

Dr. Ed Ward MD, AS, BS, MD – Reporting and investigating Constitutional abuses of the US government for almost 2 decades.

AS, BS in Medical Technology – Minor in Organic Chemistry and Physics, volunteer during the Viet Nam war 6 years stateside active duty 'med tech' 'US Air Farce' – a decade experience in Medical Technology.

MD degree from LSU, New Orleans – 2 decades in the field of General Practice. (My) Articles are also referenced by valid experts in their field. Dr Ed

Responses to "Everything We Know About a Gaseous Hydrogen Sun Is Bogus Science"

1. spartanoftruth Says:

July 31, 2013 at 9:23 pm | Reply

Reblogged this on Spartan of Truth and commented:

Thanks Ed.

2. Anonymous Says:

August 1, 2013 at 1:01 am | Reply

There is a reason for the lies, which you don't know

3. Ed Ward MD Says:

August 1, 2013 at 2:15 am | Reply

Indeed correct anon, and while I don't know for sure. We do know for sure, the concept of aging of stars and brings up topics like http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Dredge-up and http://thetruthwins.com/archives/is-our-sun-inthe-very-early-stages-of-shutting-down

4. tuwun0 Says:

August 1, 2013 at 3:40 pm | Reply

Fascinating. In light of this revelation, does this mean that the Sun's predicted life span, based I assume on the Sun's mass and atomic composition, could now be different from previous calculations, now that we know that it's atomic mass composition is not just predominently gas in nature? I.E. does this impact on the rate of "fuel" consumption or does it impact on the amount of fuel there is to be consumed? Great article!

Ed Ward MD Says:

August 1, 2013 at 5:24 pm | Reply tuwuno, Life span of stars is also mys

tuwuno, Life span of stars is also mysterious. After all, the big ball of H that takes 10 Billion years to burn and only burns 10% of H before burnout is actually quite ludicrous. A lot of the data comes from spectral analysis of known element spectra, and appears to be in the range of 10 Billion years for stars of similar mass and luminosity. Supposedly, the sun in no older than the earth which is 4.5 Billion +/- 1.5 Billion, which just by itself put the earth at 6 Billion years in the upper range. As noted in the dying star graphic, that puts the sun in an era of EXPANSION. Based on the recent data, all the data we thought we knew about stars and their life cycles needs to be re-evaluated. I suspect this has been done at least by government. The likelyhood of 'early stage, end stage' is a possibility. An article I bypassed a while ago, needs another look 'Our Electric Sun' and along that order there most assuredly 'pure fusion' involved so that would be another reason the government would not want this seen? Hypoths. Thanks for the comment. Dr Ed

5. maybeperfect Says: August 1, 2013 at 5:25 pm | Reply

I am not a "scientist" But common sense told me long ago that the "gaseous" assertion was Bravo Sierra. A ball of gas would have a lot of trouble holding in position numerous stony and metallic sattellites from a distance of millions of miles. I mean, think about it.

This kind of thing rightly causes one to be dubious of any self-described scientific orthodoxy.

Pancake? Hmmm.

o Ed Ward MD Says: August 1, 2013 at 5:31 pm | Reply

maybeperfect, grin, I was just noting other problems in the 'ball of H gas' BS to another poster. Amazing how at least this hydrogen gas sun stuff held up. They had to be making up tons of BS to support the 'gas BS'. Thanks for the comment. Dr Ed

6. Samuel Ashworth Says: August 1, 2013 at 6:01 pm | Reply

It makes sense. In a fusion reaction of the suns power, iron (I believe) is the end of the chain. After iron, nothing else is built up. Then, you wonder "well, where did uranium come from?". We are at least 2nd generation solar system meaning that it takes the energy of a supernova to fuse beyond iron explaining the existence of the rest of the periodic table. I hope I said this clear enough as I see it in my mind and try and write it.

o Ed Ward MD Says: August 1, 2013 at 6:20 pm | Reply

The chain of fusion products in stars according to 'old' theory, or still correct old theory with dying star, or variant of above.

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/File:Nucleosynthesi s in a star.gifh fuses he, he fuses C, on up the line to iron.

7. Everything We Know About a Gaseous

Hydrogen Sun Is Bogus Science | Secret

Done Says:

August 2, 2013 at 1:00 am | Reply

[...] http://edwardmd.wordpress.com/2013/07/31...s-science/ "Filtered picture of surface of the sun selective for Iron Ore – Yellow." [...]

8. Manu Costa Says:

August 2, 2013 at 2:29 am | Reply

Our sun is an electric star like an electric light bulb http://www.electricuniverse.info/Electric Sun theory

Continued from tuwuno reply and this linkage. Tesla power? Definitely pure fusion data. Another assassination? This would have been heavy duty classified due to 'nuclear theory.

Juergen's seems to nail it, but no specifics of how in 'The Electric Sun'

http://www.electricuniverse.info/Electric Sun t heory

""Juergens, however, went farther than all of his preceptors in electrifying both the cosmic bodies and their interactions. He perceived the astronomical bodies as inherently charged objects immersed in a universe which could be described as an electrified fabric.(1e)[6] The charges appearing locally on cosmic bodies, he posited, arose from the separation of positive ions and electrons on a galactic scale.(1f)[7] Later, he discussed both the problems arising if the solar interior is truly the source of stellar energy (1g) and the nature of the phenomena observed as the solar photosphere.(1h) The two papers cited in notes (1g)[8] and (1h)[9] were the last he published about the electrical Sun before his untimely death in November of 1979." (References in original)

Milton continues:

"In the first of his papers, Juergens related the Sun's ability to modulate the incoming flux of cosmic rays (which are protons impinging upon the solar system from all directions at relativistic velocities) to the Sun's driving potential, its cathode drop.(1i)[10] He estimated that a value in excess of 10 billion volts would suffice. From the flux of solar wind protons observed at the Earth's orbit, he calculated that a 1015 ampere solar wind current was flowing because of the solar discharge.(1j)[11] The solar luminosity of 3.9×10^{-2} 1026 watts seemingly requires a discharge current which exceeds that of Juergens' estimate by forty fold, but since both the cathode drop and the discharge current values he chose were minima, the power shortage is not likely serious, as either or both values can be adjusted to erase the deficit without affecting the credibility of his arguments. "Then, Juergens showed that the solar photosphere can be compared to a "tufted anode glow" in an electric discharge tube].(1k)[12] The tuft forms because the body of the Sun, immersed in the interplanetary plasma, which at its inner boundary is the weakly luminous outer solar region called the corona, cannot maintain an electrical discharge into the surrounding electrified galactic space. Juergens noted that the problem could arise from any one or more of the following conditions: (1)the solar body forms too small a surface to conduct the current required for the discharge, (2) the surrounding plasma is too "cool", (11)[13] and/or (3) the cathode drop is too large. The "anode tuft" detached from, and now lying above, the "surface" of the solar body increases the effective surface area over which the Sun can collect electrons. Within the "tuft", volatile material – vapourized from the Sun – increases the gas density and contributes large numbers of extra electrons because, now, many of the frequent collisions between the gas atoms result in ionization."

More: http://www.kronospress.com/juergens/1982-electric-solar-energy-

juergens.pdf

9. Amerikagulag Says:

August 2, 2013 at 5:54 am | Reply

Plasm sun – plasma core expando earth model.

Ed Ward MD Says:

August 2, 2013 at 5:25 pm | Reply

planets and stars have more correlation than gaseous objects and stars. It certainly appears that planets and stars are much more closely related than past observations have demonstrated.

10. El Capitan Says: August 2, 2013 at 4:38 pm | Reply

Absolutely. You reference Birkeland; the Electric Sun theory is the answer. It's all plasma.

o Ed Ward MD Says: August 2, 2013 at 5:21 pm | Reply

The Electric Sun was noted for the electrical aspects of fusion/fission. Assuredly there is plasma involved, but a solid sitting in a plasma field? There seems to be a hell of a lot more going on than just plasma. Stars seem to be nothing more than planets on fire in many aspects.

http://edwardmd.wordpress.com/2013/07/31/e verything-we-know-about-a-gaseous-hydrogensun-is-bogus-science/

Already in 1880 the journalist John Swinton wrote "we are intellectual prostitutes"

"There is no such thing, at this date of the world's history, in America, as an independent press. You know it and I know it. There is not one of you who dares to write your honest opinions, and if you did, you know beforehand that it would never appear in print. I am paid weekly for keeping my honest opinion out of the paper I am connected with. Others of you are paid similar salaries for similar things, and any of you who would be so foolish as to write honest opinions would be out on the streets looking for another job. If I allowed my honest opinions to appear in one issue of my paper, before twenty-four hours my occupation would be gone. The business of the journalists is to destroy the truth, to lie outright, to pervert, to vilify, to fawn at the feet of mammon, and to sell his country and his race for his daily bread. You know it and I know it, and what folly is this toasting an independent press? We are the tools and vassals of rich men behind the scenes. We are the jumping jacks, they pull the strings and we dance. Our talents, our possibilities and our lives are all the property of other men. We are intellectual prostitutes." [5]

Source: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/John_Swinton_(journalist)

Obama asked to raise anti-Semitism with Greek PM

Human Rights First organization calls on president to address anti-Jewish political party at Thursday meeting August 7, 2013, 10:46 pm

WASHINGTON (JTA) – Human Rights First has asked President Obama to raise the issues of hate crimes and anti-Semitism with the prime minister of Greece when the two leaders meet.

Elisa Massimino, the president and CEO of the US-based group, urged Obama in a two-page letter Tuesday to ask Prime Minister Antonis Samaras during their meeting on Thursday to "speak out more forcefully to counteract the negative anti-Semitic and xenophobic discourse."

The letter specifically pointed to the political party Golden Dawn, which holds 7 percent of the seats in the Greek parliament, noting "its representatives use Nazi symbols, have praised German Nazi leaders in the past, and have engaged in blatantly xenophobic rhetoric."

"The significant presence in local and national governments of a party that openly espouses racist and anti-Semitic views and policies is a disturbing dimension of anti-Semitism's continuing presence and a formidable obstacle in the path of efforts to confront it," Massimino wrote.

Human Rights First cited the U.S. State Department's 2012 report in which racist violence against foreigners, migrants and Roma was called "the most import human rights problem" in Greece. Its letter also was sent to National Security Advisor Susan Rice and others in the State Department.

http://www.timesofisrael.com/obama-asked-to-raise-anti-semitism-with-greek-pm/

Boston bomber pal tied to books questioning Holocaust

Mentally impaired acquaintance of the Tsarnaev brothers had literature doubting genocide, but has Jewish friends, lawyer says

By Bridget Murphy and Jay Lindsay August 7, 2013, 9:35 pm

Brothers Tamerlan (right) and Dzhokhar Tsarnaev, pictured shortly before April's Boston Marathon blast, may have been exposed to Holocaust denial by a family acquaintance. (Photo credit: AP/Bob Leonard)

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Marathon bombing suspects Tamerlan and Dzhokhar Tsarnaev befriended a brain-damaged anti-US government conspiracy theorist through their mother's health care aide job years before the deadly attack, a lawyer said Tuesday.

Attorney Jason Rosenberg, who represents the family of Donald Larking, said Larking shared publications with the brothers, especially Tamerlan, and discussed theories including that the Sept. 11, 2001, terror attacks and the Newtown, Conn., elementary school shooting didn't happen or that the US government was behind them.

The attorney said the Tsarnaev family had a relationship with the Larkings that started years ago, when the brothers' mother began working as a personal care assistant for Larking's wife, a quadriplegic since Rosenberg said Larking, who lives in West Newton, just west of Boston, was shot in the head in 1974 in an attempted robbery while working in a convenience store. He said Larking suffered brain damage that led to problems with his decision-making and judgment.

An attorney for Larking's family says he has many Jewish friends

Authorities say the Tsarnaev brothers orchestrated the April 15 marathon bombing, in which two pressure cookers loaded with shrapnel exploded near the race's finish line, killing three people and injuring more than 260 others. Dzhokhar Tsarnaev pleaded not guilty last month to charges including using a weapon of mass destruction to kill. Tamerlan Tsarnaev died after a shootout with police a few days after the bombing.

Rosenberg said Tuesday the Tsarnaev brothers got to know Larking while substituting for their mother sometimes by helping to care for his wife. The attorney said the brothers "were very helpful, very kind" to the | sure to help Larking, who wears braces on his legs, couple, and Larking shared his views with them as he found anti-US government websites and became angrier and irrational.

The attorney said Larking, who has many Jewish friends, also has literature that questions whether the Holocaust happened.

The lawyer's account first emerged in a Wall Street Journal article, which included Tamerlan Tsarnaev's former landlady talking about publications that had been in his Cambridge apartment.

Landlady Joanna Herlihy said she salvaged publications after authorities had finished searching the apartment and items were discarded. She confirmed that among them were an Alabama-based publication that uses a Confederate flag on its website and a weekly publication that the Southern Poverty Law Center calls anti-Semitic.

Rosenberg said Tuesday he doesn't think Larking helped the Tsarnaev brothers, ethnic Chechens from Russia, formulate ideas, but may have made them believe others felt as they did.

A landlady found a publication in Tamerlan Tsarnaev's apartment that the Southern Poverty Law Center calls anti-Semitic

"[They] were seeing someone who was Caucasian and was born in America who was saying the same things," the attorney said.

Rosenberg said he doesn't know if the Tsarnaev brothers understood how seriously Larking's brain was affected from the long-ago shooting. He said he's talked to Larking since the Boston Marathon bombing, but doesn't think his friend comprehends what happened.

The brothers took Larking to their mosque, and he converted to Islam and still attends the mosque, Rosenberg said.

Larking seemed close to Tamerlan, and Tamerlan made when they attended the mosque together, said Nicole Mossalam, a spokeswoman for the Islamic Society of Boston mosque in Cambridge.

Mossalam said it becomes obvious during conversation that Larking has a disability because he's unusually open and "childlike," and often says politically incorrect things without seeming to realize it.

"He loves to sit down with people and talk, and there's basically no filter," she said.

In a federal indictment in June, authorities alleged they found on Dzhokhar Tsarnaev's computer a publication written by someone known as the Father of Global Jihad that advocates violence to terrorize Islam's perceived enemies.

Prosecutors also alleged he downloaded an article from a publication that "glorifies martyrdom in the service of violent jihad" and a magazine that had directions for building bombs using pressure cookers.

http://www.timesofisrael.com/boston-bomber-pal-tied-to-books-guestioning-holocaust/

Major German daily publishes anti-Israeli cartoon AJC demands apology from Stuttgarter Zeitung for depicting Netanyahu as an evil character from a 1938 anti-Nazi song

By Adiv Sterman August 8, 2013, 2:35 am

An anti-Israel caricature published in the German newspaper Stuttgarter Zeitung showing Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu holding a piece of bread for peace doves that he is poisoning with liquid from a bottle labeled "settlement construction" - photo credit: screen cap from the Stuttgarter Zeitung.

A major German newspaper on Wednesday published an anti-Israeli caricature likening Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu to an evil character from an anti-Nazi song. The cartoon raised serious concerns among Jews in Germany and beyond, who have demanded that the paper apologize.

In Wednesday's Stuttgarter Zeitung, Netanyahu is seen sitting on a park bench, pouring poison from a bottle labeled "settlement construction" over a piece of bread which he apparently intends to feed to a peace dove. The cartoon caption references a 1938 anti-Nazi song by the Jewish Austrian-American composer and performer Georg Kreisler called "Pigeon Poisoner."

The American Jewish Committee issued a stark condemnation of the caricature, saying it conveys a damaging message and attempts to over simplify a complex situation.

"Defaming the memory of a Holocaust survivor to attack Israel is a new low in Israel-bashing," said Deidre Berger, Director of AJC Berlin, in reference to Kreisler, who fled Vienna in 1938.

"Such perfidious simplifications and one-sided judgments of Israel poison public opinion and have the opposite effect of what is intended," Berger said. "Whipping up strong animosity toward Israel damages Israeli attitudes toward Europe and ultimately harms the peace process."

Kreisler's daughter, Sandra Kreisler, demand that the newspaper publish an explanation of Kreisler's Israel-friendly views and that the cartoonist apologize for using her father's anti-Nazi song in a false context.

Writing on her Facebook page, Kreisler deemed the caricature "anti-Semitic and wrong in content," and said that her father never would have supported the view of the cartoonist.

Last month, German daily Sueddeutscher Zeitung published a cartoon that depicted Israel as a monster with Germany as its handmaiden.

The AJC filed a complaint with the German Press Council regarding the offensive caricature.

http://www.timesofisrael.com/major-german-dailypublishes-anti-israeli-cartoon/

Stephen Fry: Russia is like Nazi Germany

TELLY fave Stephen Fry has compared Russia to Nazi Germany, due to its actions against homosexuals.

By Greq Heffer/Published 7th August 2013

Stephen Fry has urged a boycott of Sochi 2014

The QI host has urged Prime Minister David Cameron to lead a boycott of next year's Winter Olympics, due to the Russian government's policies.

Fry, 55, has written an open letter to Mr Cameron, as well as International Olympic Committee (IOC) boss Jacques Rogge. The comedian and actor claims Russian President Vladimir Putin is "eerily repeating" the Nazi's persecution of Jewish people, "only this time against LGBT Russians".

He writes: "Beatings, murders and humiliations are ignored by the police. Any defence or sane discussion of homosexuality is against the law."

The actor and comedian reckons Russia is 'eerily repeating' the Nazi's persecution of Jewish people

Fry has asked David Cameron to take a stand against Russian president Vladimir Putin

Fry adds that Putin "is making scapegoats of gay people, just as Hitler did Jews. He cannot be allowed to get away with it."

The former Blackadder star also states: "An absolute ban on the Russian Winter Olympics of 2014 on Sochi is simply essential.

"Stage them elsewhere in Utah, Lillyhammer, anywhere you like.

"At all costs Putin cannot be seen to have the approval of the civilised world."

After last year's summer Olympics in London was widely-praised around the world, Fry warns Sochi 2014 will "stain the movement forever and wipe away any of that glory".

He also tells the IOC, "it is simply not enough to say that gay Olympians may or may not be safe in their village."

Fry thinks the magic of London 2012 could be 'wiped away'

"Beatings, murders and humiliations are ignored by the police. Any defence or sane discussion of homosexuality is against the law."Stephen Fry Football chiefs Fifa have also come under fire for controversially awarding the 2022 World Cup to Qatar, despite homosexuality being banned in the Middle Eastern country. Fifa boss Sepp Blatter caused a storm by claiming: "I'd say they [gay fans] should refrain from any sexual activities."

And Fry has warned powerful sport bosses they can no longer hide away from considering social issues when awarding major sports events.

Fifa boss Sepp Blatter has also caused a storm by awarding the 2022 World Cup to Qatar

He writes: "The idea that sport and politics don't connect is worse than disingenuous, worse than stupid. It is wickedly, wilfully wrong."

http://www.dailystar.co.uk/news/latestnews/331097/Stephen-Fry-Russia-is-like-Nazi-Germany

Netanyahu Forms Committee To Enlist Palestinian Christians In the Army Written by CNI, Tuesday, 06 August 2013 22:47

File image IMEMC -

In a serious escalation of Israeli attempts to divide the Arab community in the country, and amidst massive ordered the formation of a special committee to recruit objections, Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu

Arab Palestinian Christians in the country to the Israeli military.

Netanyahu and a number of Christian "leaders" will be forming this committee in the coming two weeks; its main aim is to enlist Christians in the occupation army. Israeli daily, Haaretz, has reported that the decision was made by Netanyahu following a meeting he held, on Monday morning [August 5, 2013] with Father Jubrael Naddaf, known for his stances encouraging enlistment in the Israeli military despite massive objections from the Arab Palestinian Christian community.

Naji Obeid, head of the Orthodox Council in Nazareth-Jaffa, and Lieutenant-reserve, Shadi Halloul, attended the meeting.

Haaretz said that the committee will be acting on recruiting Christians in the country, and will be acting on "protecting Christian recruits", in addition to acting on the legal level to prosecute objectors, dubbed as "persons who incite violence and chaos".

According to Haaretz, Netanyahu stated that "Christians in the country must be allowed to join the Israeli army and defend the state".

Netanyahu added that he "salutes" those recruits, and that Israel "will not allow any person or group to threaten or harm them".

Arab Legislator in Israel, Bassel Ghattas, sent a letter to Patriarch Theophilos III of Jerusalem, regarding acts by certain priests, especially Father Naddaf, who supports enlistment in the Israeli army and is encouraging Christian youths to join the Israeli occupation army.

Ghattas denounced the actions of Naddaf, and stated that those stances violate his moral and religious responsibility, adding that Naddaf is using his priesthood as the head of a well-respected Christian Palestinian community, to encourage the youths to enlist in the army that occupies and oppresses their own people.

"Naddaf is trying to strip those youths from their national identity", Ghattas said, "He is trying to divide the Christian committee, and is trying to strip the Christians from their identity and nationality".

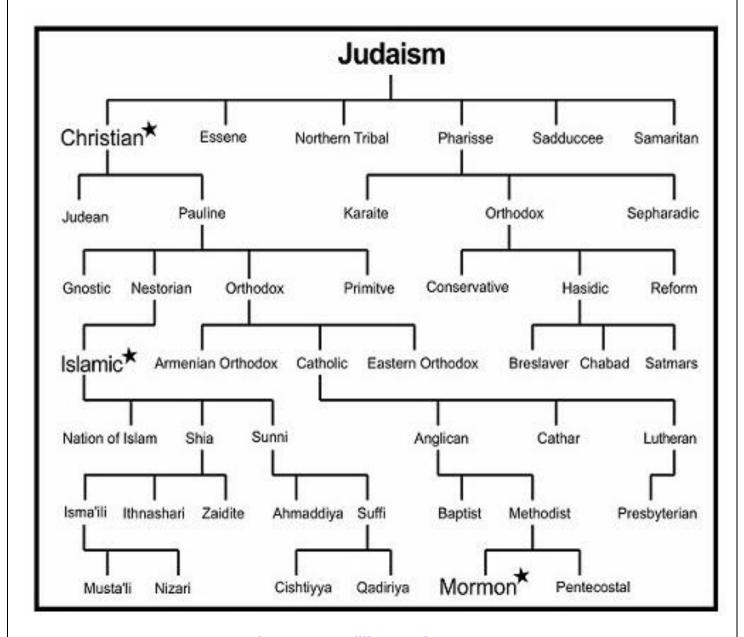

Ghattas added that the Arab Orthodox Christian committee in the country is a community of real patriots, leaders and freedom fighters, including Father Yacoub Al-Hanna in Al-Rama in the Galilee, George Habash, the founder of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine (PFLP), Nayef Hawatma, secretary-general of the Democratic Front for the Liberation of Palestine (DFLP) and many leaders and figures.

Ghattas added that Father Naddaf must be excommunicated and removed from his post, and that Naddaf must apologize to the Christian community.

http://www.councilforthenationalinterest.org/isr aelpalestineconflict/missingheadlines/itemlist/us er/62-cni

10

Carolyn Yeager maillist@carolynyeager.net

19. November 2011

Graphic Photos of Murdered Camp Guards

The fate of guards in concentration camps - Violence BY "holocaust survivors" and "liberators."

This was posted at the CODOH Forum on Thurs. Nov. 17, 2011

http://forum.codoh.com/viewtopic.php?f=2&t=6730.

A revealing display of photographs - some I have not seen. Ordruf is the camp close to Buchenwald that Eisenhower visited, where he carried out his publicity stunt for the media and the "historical record." What we see here is what was not done to any prisoner during their incarceration. I am leaving the text just as the poster wrote it, except for my words in parentheses.

I have a couple of questions, are there any records to show how many guards were executed at each camp? And were they brutally killed because they denied exterminating prisoners or did they deserve it?

(This) was (the fate of) the commandant of the Mauthausen-Gusen concentration camp from 1939 until the camp was captured by the Allied powers in 1945.

(He) was found by the US army on 23/05/1945 in a cabin in Pyhrn area in Austria and was shot during an attempt to arrest him. He was taken to a military hospital and interrogated in the presence of former inmates.

Two days after he was captured, he died of his wounds. This picture shows what liberated inmates did to his body after death.

Two SS soldiers/guards beaten and stoned by liberated inmates at Ebensee, the one at the bottom is the same as previous picture, the one at the top looks like he has been badly disfigured.

Ebensee, Austria, body of an SS man stoned/beaten by liberated inmates (to death/near death?)

A freed prisoner fights a German soldier who was recently captured by the U.S soldiers at the Dachau concentration camp. The American soldiers are watching the fight continue.

(Murdered German camp guards)

(More dead Germans who had surrendered the camp)

(SS guards being executed by U.S. "liberators.")

Dachau, Germany. American soldiers posing in front of bodies of dead German soldiers.

Gusen Concentration Camp guard, May 12, 1945. A group of liberated political prisoners and two soldiers from the 11th Armored Division of the Third U.S. Army look at the body of a camp guard killed by survivors after liberation.

The bullet-ridden bodies of two SS guards who were killed in the Ohrdruf concentration camp soon after the liberation.

Photo taken on 10 April 1945 showing a female guard beaten and shot after the liberation of Ohrdruf.

Anti-Racist Hitler - Children of the Rainbow

Tel Aviv = too many Jews Diversity - open border policy for Israel; restricting a country to specific group of people = racism Israel is a rich country and only a racist would oppose non-Jewish immigration. Israel is not going to be the monolithic - do not have right to preserve their people; Jews all over the world love diversity and multiculturalism Jews all over the world love diversity and multiculturalism God's chosen people = some kind of master race Children of the Rainbow = good = strength Israel must learn to be multicultural. Love cannot be anti-Semitic

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=IKDeyuM0-Og

How to smoke out an Anti-Semite

Michael Colhaze, August 8, 2013

In my early twenties, while roaming through Europe by way of hitchhiking, I hung out for a few days in one of Rome's many youth hostels. As the usual cheap Chianti evening soiree got into full swing, a Jewish gentleman of Eastern provenance approached me and asked for a favour. He had twinkling little eyes, an uncommonly large and bulbous nose, high blood pressure, an ample midriff and must have been about seventy five years old. I fell of course over my own feet to accommodate him. His English was atrocious, and it took me some time to understand that he was on his way to Germany and needed a letter of introduction. Or better, a document that would help him to claim indemnifications. 'What for!' I asked appalled, fearing immediately the worst. 'A good question', he conceded, and if I had any suggestions. So we sat down and | Colhaze To be a German, TOO April 2010) cooked up a story whose details I don't remember anymore, but would probably blush crimson if they were read to me today. Rounding it off he needed a name, since his was acoustically too cumbersome, too long and too Cyrillic in any case. As an experienced cosmopolitan I suggested Cohen, which for unclear reasons didn't sit well with him. After some deliberations I came up with Germany's foremost nonsense poet, and thus Mr. Morningstar was born. I hope he achieved his aims, continued to shine brilliantly, and lived happily ever after. When all was done, he patted my cheek approvingly and said: 'Son! You are a good Nazi!' Which left me, historically speaking, with the profound satisfaction that there must have been at least one of those in the whole wide world. (M.

Eppur si muove! - Galileo Galilei (1564 - 1642)

The $PLC has recently lifted a gilded hind leg and piddled against my personal lamppost. It did this in response to a fanciful little satire where copious but strictly rhetorical heap Rather, she foamed at the mouth.

I undertook—and such an exertion it to haul their hulking intelligence officer through a of mud. The effort was not for naught, because. and as anticipated, poisonous python didn't take it kindly. Bombarding me and the Editor with emails, therein demanding the removal of my piece while threatening us with what the mephitic $PLC usually threatens with, she finally let fly, on their own repugnant website, a riposte with all the usual threats and accusations.

To tell you the truth, I haven't looked at it yet. I have been told what it contains, so perhaps I never will. As a matter of fact, and as far as the $PLC is concerned, all I have ever read is their diatribes against the Editor and some rants in the same vein that try to slander men of similar distinction and integrity. Though I have surfed through the Net and know what decent people write about this ugly, reckless and utterly hypocritical anachronism in the very heart of the Deep South.

The reason for my refusal to read their squalid canards is simple. I am slightly superstitious. Most sailors are, even if they rarely admit it. It happens when you hold the wheel during a starstudded night, perhaps while ghosting along with the trade winds towards Trinidad and Tobago, and the silent and all-encompassing immensity around you reverberates deep in your soul as a mysterious sentience, the intuitive recognition of a mighty and timeless river beyond any known dimension, one that can only be felt and never put into words.

And whatever its metaphysical bequest, it also engenders a more practical posture that is in no way removed from diurnal authenticity. You may call it an alert honing of the common sense, a kind of subconscious olfactory nerve that sets all your alarm bells ringing when confronted with something spiritually hideous and harmful. Like chancing on people who feign to be saintly defenders of the oppressed but have, over a period of many years, created an aura of pure evil and immersed themselves therein.

An aura of which a whiff, like the harbinger of a contagious pestilence, reached out at me when I opened Heidi's first email and read her earnest portent that all hell would break loose if the accursed piece of racist heresy weren't immediately removed. Yet as it is, and to her hilarious humiliation, the Editor could not be bothered beyond a tired yawn. The same is true, on a more general line, of his vast band of coauthors, all erudite men and women who calmly and objectively state in their different ways our impregnable right to survive as a highly cultured and peaceful tribe within the global community.

Which brings me to Galileo Galilei, who muttered on his deathbed, and in clear defiance of the official ideology, that yet she moves! Meaning our magnificent planet Earth, deemed during his time the immovable centre of the Universe, and around which the latter turned dutifully once in twenty four hours.

Shortly afterwards the world could not but admit that the great astronomer had treaded perfectly safe ground with his assertions, though until then any deviation from the officially decreed dogma was fraught with mortal danger. As happened to Giordano Bruno, whose discoveries ridiculed the infantile cosmology of his day. Those in power, intent on keeping the populace ignorant if not downright dumb, just as they do today, and who loved the plain truth about as much as the Devil loves frankincense, just as they do today, instructed their local Inquisitors to get rid of the dangerous heretic in the most expedient manner possible. Whereupon, after a wretched mock trial, the henchmen sewed his blasphemous tongue into a gag, led him to a pyre and burned him alive.

Since then much water has passed under the bridges. Enlightenment came and went, followed by an enhanced scientific approach and the general improvement of matters social, material and ethical. Until, a few decades ago, dreaded Inquisition crept unexpectedly back out of the gutter. It did this in the wake of horrendous myths -e.g., race doesn't exist, Jewish behaviour is irrelevant to anti-Semitism, modern art Art, etc. — invented for the sake of ethnocentric strategies and unlimited financial gain. Prodded by a gigantic media campaign, these weird constructs flourished and swelled and seeped into the outmost nooks and fissures of nearly the entire globe, thereby assuming the status of an infernal ersatz religion with all its necessary trappings, insisting on a rigid dogmatic coercion that outlawed any attempt to query its legitimacy.

Which is the reason — and how could it be otherwise? — that this enforced regress into the Dark Ages with its massive historical and scientific flaws provoked an ever escalating chorus of critical discord. Contingent to whichever great Western democracy the deviants inhabit, inquisitorial retaliation for their rebellious comportment entails either smear campaigns a la $PLC or heavy fines and imprisonment by an increasingly shaky gang of legislators whose puppet masters are by now clearly recognized and abhorred.

Perhaps your fear in passing judgement on me is greater than mine receiving it, said Giordano Bruno on hearing his death sentence, a statement that must ring sometimes in the $PLC's bovine mendacious and downright ludicrous attempts to enforce tenets which are increasingly perceived as unsound, indefensible and injurious subterfuges. As to the heading of this piece, and the query it implies, my answer is simple. I uphold and defend the Christian ideal and its strictly analogous manifestations in other systems of thought, particularly Buddhism, as the divinely inspired foundation of a peaceful coexistence among all human beings and the only practicable means for their eventual survival. Consequently I respect anyone of good intentions, no matter if White, Black, Brown, chequered or spotted. I have not the faintest ambition to lecture, cheat, insult, harm, displace or subjugate anybody, categorically expect the same treatment for myself and my tribe. Meaning I'm prepared to rise in arms if it is refused for any reason whatsoever.

auricles when it unleashes its hysterical,

This is a position diametrically opposed to that of Heidi and her global myth enforcers. Because for them anyone of contrary opinion, be it with regard to politics, history, culture, race. immigration and what not, is by definition a heretic and therefore an Anti-Semite - one who must be burned, quartered, hanged, quillotined or otherwise destroyed. This policy might work for a while if the Inquisitors can rely on mountains of stolen money to push their agenda.

But in the long run it is suicidal, particularly if the lies and deceptions are laid bare by independent information outlets, and the silly fabrications and inept machinations begin to collapse like a house of cards. As they do now.

The negative fallout of this dangerous and demented ploy is manifold.

Inventing and fanning inter-racial conflicts, robbing half of the global community stark naked and promoting quite openly a kind of Orwellian tyranny is increasingly perceived by most reasonable people as an assault on their purses and guaranteed liberties alike.

Small wonder therefore that distrust, disgust and open enmity has been the result. Which in itself is a perfectly acceptable reaction, were it not that it affects also a multitude of decent, unobtrusive and hard-working cotribalists who are as far removed from the machinations and fleshpots of their so-called elite as you and I. Travelling in Israel while visiting distant relatives, I have repeatedly met lawvers, businessmen and former IDF officers who are fairly concerned about the reckless exploits of the Likudniks, the Neocon Bolshies, their Wall Street minders and corrosive institutions like the $PLC or ADL. One of my acquaintances, a former kibbutznik and present university professor, has written an entire book about the dispossession of Palestinian territory and its inherent danger, but to little effect.

Concerning the individual ramifications, I believe that Heidi and her immediate associates did get a deep satisfaction from smoking out and hunting down all those presumed Anti-Semites. Yet as time went by the kick may have lost some of its lustre, because the monotone repetition and hollowness of the harangues are bound to spawn in the final analysis a sense of futility and despair. If generously inclined, I might say with Plato that the reason why men (and women) forfeit felicity is that they mistake apparent good for real. But that tag won't fit the $PLC, whose only aim under all the highfalutin blather is the promotion of its own secret schedule. One which, as its officers know perfectly well, is plain evil where you and I are concerned.

Recently I've read about a poll that has been conducted across a fairly large number of countries, to the effect that people were asked which quality they cherished most in a human being. I believe there were many choices, perhaps from modesty to greatness, from innocence to dynamism, from dexterity to archness, from artistic creativity to the knack of making millions, and so on. After the votes were counted, and to the surprise of everyone involved, it was goodness that had won the day. Which is just one more proof that this particular attribute, together with its many tributaries, constitutes the valuable and appreciated most cornerstone of any decent society.

This is how Aldous Huxley phrased it, and I'm hard put to think of a better definition.

Goodness, immanent in its potentialities, transcendent as a realized ideal, conceivable in its perfections, but also susceptible as being realized in practise, of being embodied at least partially in any situation in which we may find ourselves.

And goodness, last not least, as a key to Paradise! The one that Heidi has lost long ago somewhere on the road without even noticing it ...

http://www.theoccidentalobserver.net/2 013/08/howtosmokeoutanantisemite/?ut m source=feedburner&utm medium=e mail&utm campaign=Feed%3A+theocci dentalobserver%2Ffeed+%28The+Occid ental+Observer%29